SDR Ventures Advises Trinator on Acquisition by Eteros Technologies

SDR Ventures is pleased to announce that Trinator (“the Company”) has been acquired by Eteros Technologies (“Eteros” or “the Buyer”). SDR served as the exclusive sell-side advisor to Trinator throughout the transaction process.

Founded in 2008, Northern California-based Trinator started with the simple mission of creating a machine with the capability to trim flower at a commercial scale. Since its inception over a decade ago, Trinator has become a leading provider of harvesting, drying and processing equipment for the cannabis and CBD hemp industries. Trinator’s robust product offerings fulfill the entire spectrum of needs for cannabis and hemp growers, harvesters and processors. The Company’s experienced team boasts in-house engineers and assemblers with robust experience in the agriculture equipment industry.

Eteros Technologies began with a strong engineering foundation, focused on innovation and building superior quality products. Starting with a core group of expert engineers and mechanical designers from diverse backgrounds, it didn’t take long for Eteros’ slogan to become “Divergent Thinking”, as it strives to put a unique, outside-the-box spin on everything it does.

Today, the combination of Trinator with Eteros creates the most comprehensive range of cannabis and hemp processing equipment in the world. Together they proudly supply some of the most advanced farms across the globe and maintain a commitment to supporting farmers both large and small. The combined team continues to engineer harvest solutions based on feedback from the farming community, helping growers increase productivity and profitability in the rapidly evolving cannabis market.

“Since the Company’s inception, it has done a remarkable job at developing a product line that meets the needs of a wide variety of end-users within the cannabis and CBD hemp industries,” added Mike Grande, Managing Director at SDR Ventures. “It was rewarding to see the company transact with a Buyer that appreciates the years of work the Trinator team put into building such a successful company.”
